INTRODUCING THE NEW FACE OF THE SCHAEFFER CENTER

After months of hard work and testing, we're excited to announce the debut of the Schaeffer Center's new website, a portal into the events, research, and on-going projects taking place here. Click on http://healthpolicy.usc.edu to check out lots of new features.

Goldman Published in Health Affairs

Slowing the Aging Process Could Boost Life Expectancy

Schaeffer Center Director Dr. Dana Goldman and a group of researchers published an article in the October 7 issue of the Health Affairs journal exploring the possibility of anti-aging research to greatly impact the quality and length of life. The paper's conclusions have already attracted attention from the Washington Post, Scientific American, PBS NewsHour, and NPR. Read more about it here.
Joyce Interviewed by CBS, ABC
Explaining the Affordable Care Act

With the Affordable Care Act (ACA) a hot-button topic in the news, Dr. Geoffrey Joyce has been in demand. The CBS Evening News featured Joyce in a story about the confusion surrounding the ACA implementation process. And ABC News took a different approach when it asked him to consider what would have happened if fictional TV anti-hero Walter White of Breaking Bad fame had been able to get Obamacare.

Summer Research at the Schaeffer Center

From understanding childhood diarrhea treatment in India to exploring prescription price differences within neighborhood pharmacies, there has been a lot of exciting PharmD student research that took place at the Schaeffer Center over the summer. Learn More

Quintiles Seminar Series

In October, the Schaeffer Center features another exciting presentation in the Quintiles seminar series. Learn more about the Quintiles seminar series here and like the SchaefferUSC page on Facebook to get the most up-to-date event information. All seminars are held at 2:00 PM at the Schaeffer Center.

October 15: Liran Einav (Stanford) "The Response of Drug Expenditure to Non-Linear Contract Design: Evidence from Medicare Part D"

About the Schaeffer Center

The mission of the Leonard D. Schaeffer Center for Health Policy & Economics at the University of Southern California is to conduct rigorous research, develop health policy leaders, and broadly communicate solutions to promote health, well-being and value in health care. The Center is a unique collaboration between the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy and the USC School of Pharmacy.

FOR MORE INFO, CONTACT: